VET NEEDED!

We are looking for a scientific, qualified vet who has exceptional people and animal skills.

The ideal candidate will love animals and go above and beyond to make them feel safe, comfortable and better. Of course, if an animal is in terrible pain you must also be prepared to make difficult decisions...

There will be times when you are called out as an emergency so you will need to be calm, and unflappable. You will definitely have to be organised, ensuring that your vet's bag always has the right equipment. Also, you may be called out in the middle of the night, so will need to be dedicated and still able to make the right, quick decision – even if you are tired!

You will also need excellent communication skills, to be able to put owners at their ease and explain exactly what the problem is. If you see any animal which you feel has been mistreated you will need to act responsibly and deal with this in a professional manner.

As well as having great people skills, you will need to have good manual dexterity, as you will need to restrain animals of all sizes and perform intricate procedures on them, using a range of surgical tools. You will also need to be able to manage your time so that your appointments don't overrun.

If you think this is the job for you, please apply to...

DO YOU WANT TO JOIN THE ARMED FORCES?

A decision to pursue a career in the armed forces is not to be taken lightly. Are you prepared to go to war? Are you a natural born leader?

We are looking for people who are patriotic and prepared to fight for their country. You need to be able to work as part of a team, have confidence and instil confidence in others when the going gets tough.

One of the most important skills is to be able to communicate clearly and concisely – especially in times of conflict when people's lives are at stake. This includes being tactful and diplomatic.

You may be posted to the other side of the world, so would need to be able to manage that, as well as being well organised and prepared to relocate at short notice. Often you may find yourself posted to some of the most deprived areas of the world so you will need to be empathetic and relate to people from different backgrounds, races, cultures and religions.

You must be physically fit to join the army and have stamina. You will need to be able to follow orders and be a quick learner. We can teach you the rest...

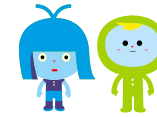

For a career in the armed forces, apply now...

IS THE LIFE OF A TREE SURGEON FOR YOU?

If you are good with heights and enjoy being outdoors, whatever the weather, then the life of a tree surgeon could be for you.

In order to be a tree surgeon, you must take your responsibilities seriously as much of the work you do will be to maintain the health and safety of the public or to aid the environment. This could be by inspecting trees and either pruning or felling them.

You must be able to work safely and follow safety guidelines when using ladders, chainsaws and elevated platforms. You will also have to be physically fit since there will be climbing and lifting involved. Manual dexterity is a must as you will be using different equipment and it is vital that you can read maps, to locate particular trees and shrubs.

As a tree surgeon, you will often be required to work as part of a team so you will need good communication and interpersonal skills.

You will need to be able to write reports and feedback verbally to customers, so you must also have good literacy skills.

If this appeals to you, you should apply to...

I have had a cough and the doctor checks my chest with a stethoscope.

My friend shows me their new pants when we get changed for PE.

My mum's friend asks to see my underwear.

I hurt the top of my leg and the first aider asks me to lift my shorts to show them.

I feel sick and my friend rubs my back.

We go swimming and get changed in the family changing room.

Someone trips me up when we're playing and grabs my arm.

I keep getting stomach pains and the doctor presses my stomach.

My teacher checks on us when we change for PE.

Libby is playing her favourite video game.

Suddenly a message pops up saying that someone would like to join her game. Libby realises the message is coming from her friend Amber's brother, Milo.

Milo is at school with Libby and Amber, and sometimes he plays with them at playtime. He also ate pizza with them the last time Libby went to Amber's house for tea.

Should she accept his friend request? Why? Why not?

Max is online talking to his friends as they play against each other. He knows most of them from school, but a couple of people have joined the game who Max doesn't know, but has played with before online.

During the game, when Max makes a mistake, one of his online friends tells him that he's rubbish and can't play properly. He even suggests that Max leaves the game as he's letting everyone else down.

Max is upset and some of his friends stick up for him, but it doesn't work. His online friend continues to tell Max to leave, even calling him names.

What could Max do? How could he make this new friendship more positive? Should he even try?
