Explain to the children this story is about knowing how other people feel. The word for this is empathy.

Jacob's Story

1. Jacob was a 7-year-old boy. His parents had recently moved to the area, which meant that Jacob had to leave behind all his friends and start at a new school.
2. It was lunch time on his first day. He was standing alone, leaning against the wall in the playground watching the children play.

3. His attention was drawn to a game of football that was being played between some girls and boys. He walked over to get a closer look and the ball bounced near his feet. He was about to kick it back when one of the boys shouted to him: "Leave it alone, you're not from around here, you're not playing with us!"
4. The other children who were playing, stood by for a moment before continuing the game. Jacob slowly walked away.
